Beautiful wood floors with timeless appeal

There's nothing quite like the beauty of a wood floor. Its grain and texture bring a natural warmth to any interior, from bedroom to living room, kitchen to hallway.

Today, decorative parquet effects can be re-imagined with a contemporary twist using the elegant new Segno collection from Tarkett.

Within these pages you should find fresh inspiration for your beautiful new wood flooring design.

Passionate about wood

That the story of Tarkett should have its roots in Sweden – a land rich in forests – is not so strange.

From this has sprung a passion for wood and the skills of transforming it for the basic human needs of housing, furniture and flooring.

From the beauty of nature to the hand of an expert, this know-how has passed from generation to generation of men and women at Tarkett ever since.

Wood is, of course, a natural material and a very precious resource. Our Segno collection is engineered with this in mind and carries the prestigious FSC® seal of approval.

FSC® helps take care of forests and the people and wildlife that call them home.

Dare to be different

The heritage of the herringbone layout dates back to the ancient Romans, who used it when building their famously robust road networks.

Decorative wood parquet floors evolved years later with all manner of intricate patterns and layouts.

Today we can still enjoy many different decorative flooring options using the new Segno collection to create truly remarkable floor finishes.

In order to realise these individual layouts we supply the Segno parquet boards in both 'left' and 'right' formats.

With different combinations, you can play with the light in the room as it catches the wood grain at different angles.

Varying numbers of formats are required for the different potential designs, further ideas are shown within this book.

The effortless elegance of real oak

European Oak is both highly valued and widely used for interior decoration due to its superior performance and longevity.

The structure of oak is well recognised as a perfect blend of modern and traditional, Segno is delicately crafted in five oak colourations to create a natural and stunning selection of shades suitable for combining with any interior scheme.

Each Segno colour has two product reference codes: one for the left board and one for the right. A typical herringbone layout will require equal quantities of left and right formats.

41020002 SEGNO OAK LIME STONE (RIGHT)

The Lime Stone colouration of Segno is a subtle take on the timeless white washed wood effect. Effortlessly contemporary, ideal for adding a fresh and spacious feel to any interior.

Oak Lime Stone

A lighter and crisper oak variation, blonde is, of course, fun and always on trend. The paler, natural shading shows less contrast in the grain and matches well with lighter colour schemes for a more subtly styled room.

Oak Blonde

The classical oak look; original, natural and beautiful, sometimes there's no need to mess with nature. All we've done here is add a touch of maturity to give additional richness & colour depth.

Dramatic, warm & luscious, Segno Oak Old Brown oozes sophistication and a sense of heritage. Perfect for combining with rich wall colours or for creating striking contrast in a more neutral interior.

This is a straightforward herringbone layout but using two contrasting colours, Blonde & Old Brown, giving a quirky, asymmetric look.

Dare to be different

With Segno you can experiment with different combinations of colours & shapes, here are a few ideas to get started with.

Segno planks are supplied in left and right formats. For a standard 'brick bond' or herringbone layout, you would typically use equal quantities of each format. For the more adventurous patterns, the ratios will vary by colour and format requirements.

It's a little like mixing a cocktail. For example 'grand basket weave' shown here is 5 parts blonde to 1 part limestone.

This staggered 'grand basket weave' style can be used to great effect with different contrasts. Here we've gone for subtlety with Lime Stone and Blonde.

A double herringbone pattern, here using Old Grey and Lime Stone together makes for a striking statement floor.

Tripling up on the herringbone with three different shades results in an intriguing woven look. Here we've taken an Oak, Old Grey & Old Brown combination.

Here's an interesting notion, mixing all five colours in an end to end layout to create a patchwork effect.

Old Brown and Oak combine here to make an alternative aged chequer board, this one really catches the light.

Simple and effective, side by side blocks of Old Grey with a highlight row of Blonde.

Our real wood floors are naturally beautiful. It is not difficult to keep them looking that way. A few straightforward preventative measures and regular cleaning with gentle materials will keep your Segno floor looking stunning for years to come.

Looking after your Segno floor

BLONDE

Wood is, of course, a natural material and we are all used to living with it in our homes every day. We know that it can scratch and indent if treated roughly and that these superficial marks can sometimes add to the character of our furniture and decorative surfaces, however there are ways to minimise the impact of the rigours of daily life with some simple maintenance.

Segno is treated with a hardwax oil to provide protection from wear, scuffs and stains. In high traffic areas such as entrance halls or workplaces, we recommend a preparatory treatment of an additional layer of oil immediately after installation. Osmo "Polyx®-oil" 3062 is the recommended treatment for this application.

Self-adhesive furniture pads are recommended for use under any pieces of furniture with heavy, point loading legs and a mat should be placed under office chairs with castors.

In order to minimise the risk of such damage to your wood floor, endeavour to stop the dirt at the entrance with a mat. The more dirt you stop at the door, the less cleaning will be needed inside the room.

Remove loose dirt with a vacuum cleaner, on smooth flooring setting, or a dry micro fibre mop.

Segno hardwax oil will allow most household stains to be wiped up quickly. It is important however to act immediately if a staining agent (like coffee, wine etc) is spilled.

For more thorough cleaning use Tarkett Bioclean for hardwax oiled floors (8792123) mixed with water. Tarkett Refresher (8792209) should be used for more aggressive and non water-based staining agents.

Full maintenance instructions can be found at tarkett.co.uk.

Product specification information

A Segno engineered wood floor is crafted from a living, natural material that shrinks or swells depending on temperature and humidity.

Tarkett has been making wood floors for more than 130 years and knows how to minimise these negative effects.

Central heating in the home results in a dry indoor climate which contracts the grain, causing the wood to shrink slightly.

Changes in relative humidity can cause damage to wooden floors, which can crack or become warped.

To counter natural movements, our wooden floors are built up in three layers. By alternating the direction of the fibres in these layers, movements in the wood are minimised, resulting in a balanced, stable floor.

Installation

Segno decorative parquet is a traditional wood floor in every sense, hence Tarkett recommend professional installation by experienced wood flooring experts.

Using the time honoured tongue and groove mechanism, Segno requires installation with flooring adhesive over a clean, dry and well prepared subfloor.

Tarkett Segno can be glued to a subfloor of concrete, particleboard, plywood or to an existing wood floor. In each case, the subfloor must be sound, level and dry and must meet the requirements detailed in our comprehensive installation instructions which are available from tarkett.co.uk.

Underfloor heating

Segno is suitable for installation with an underfloor heating system, provided the system delivers even heat over the whole area of the floor and does not exceed 27°C in any part of the floor surface.

A vapour barrier is always required for underfloor heating. Underfloor heating must be disabled during installation.

Warranty

Tarkett are confident that you will be delighted with your beautiful Segno decorative parquet floor, so much so that we offer a 15 year warranty on this floor.

The guarantee is assurance that your floor will not wear out during this warranty period.

This applies to the 'wear layer' or top surface of the floor which is crafted from pure oak timber.

The guarantee applies to domestic applications only and only when our recommended installation and maintenance procedures have been adhered to.

We do not guarantee your floor against natural fading or discolouration, which is to be expected of any wood flooring, from the affects of staining, colour variations from in-store sampling, this publication or point of sale, or from general wear and tear.
